I have forwarded the pages to Dynamac. Ginny you have a good eye, this version has been reviewed about 12 times from me to EPA HQ's and EPA HQ's QA contractors. It is too late to make any changes as this is already part of the official NPL docket and is on regulations.gov. We submitted a draft final to HQ's last month and EPA headquarters contractors generates the final document (including reference check and page numbers) and then formats it for the web. I then ask Dynamac to download the official docket version from the web-to ensure that all copies in all dockets (regional, on-line, and HQ's) are identical. The version on the disk is the one that HQ's provided.

Today I received the final deliverable for 0009-12-02-02. Wilcox Oil and after reviewing found there were a few errors in the list of references.
(See attached). Linda is on leave until next Tuesday so maybe you could send this on to DYNAMAC for corrections.

Thanks!
